Quality

Quality for us starts with the choice of raw materials. Our fruits are carefully selected by small to medium size farmers of different countries, conscious about producing in the most natural way possible — and experienced in packaging and freezing fruit pulps. Our selection of raw materials is connected with peoples of the world, who have maintained and developed fruit farming as part of a family tradition. Our products contain top quality inputs coming from their countries of origin. Frutti-Mundo only imports goods from the places where these originated and pays a fair price for them. In addition to selecting the best quality fruit pulps, our aim is to support small to medium scale farming, globally, and produce goods using state of the art technology. That is how we understand quality.

Our Sorbets and Ice Creams
